

FOREIGN RELATIONS PROBLEMS TANGLE MATTERS FOR U. S.

Washington, May 31.—Two international problems—one a crisis in the relations between the United States and Germany and the other the administration's determination to bring an early cessation of internal warfare in Mexico—developed for President Wilson today, a combination of circumstances hardly paralleled in American history.

The President had prepared a statement to be issued tomorrow as a warning to the Mexican factions that their incessant strife had forced the innocent populace to the verge of starvation, and that unless the chief elements came to an agreement to restore order some other means would have to be found by the United States to accomplish that end.

There was a confidence in executive quarters that the yarning would suffice to set in motion definite plans for peace in Mexico; but there was less optimism in respect to the relations with Germany, made increasingly grave by the reply from Berlin to the American Lusitania note.

The official text of the note from Germany was before the President early today. Officials generally read it with profound disappointment for, they pointed out, it endeavored to obscure and evade the main issue—the questions of humanity involved—and sought to interpose a technical argument on matters of law hitherto undisputed under the universally accepted laws of nations. Most important of all, it was noted no attention was given to the American request for assurances that American lives would be safeguarded in the future.

Course of U. S. Being Skipped.

The course of the United States, expected to be shaped by the President before the day is over, will be discussed at tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

Through Ambassador Gerard the President has known for several days of the disappointing character of the German note. What his action will be is unknown to any one but himself; but it is believed in many quarters he will send a second note to Berlin within forty-eight hours, answering Germany's request for the facts of the Lusitania's cargo and equipment with a re-statement of the circumstances as made clear in the first American note and an intimation that a prompt reply is expected.

Reference, it is believed, will be made to the understanding of the American government that another vessel—the Nebraska—has been torpedoed without warning while the diplomatic discussion was in progress and urgent inquiry, it is thought, will be taken immediately by the German government to prevent further destruction of American lives and property.

Legal officers of the United States government pointed out that the German acceptance of responsibility for attacks on the American ships Guilford and the Cushing, with expressions of regret and offers of reparation, could not aid materially in clearing up the situation, since such promises do not remove a dangerous practice. This view, it is held, is proved by the attack on the Nebraska and the absence of any assurance that Americans on unarmed merchant ships of any flag in the future will be transferred to a place of safety before such a ship is destroyed as a prize of war.

ITALIANS CONTINUE DRIVE INTO AUSTRIA

Rome, May 31.—Despite bad weather the offensive operations of the Italian army of invasion in Trent continues without a check. The Austrian forts in the Carnia mountains are being bombarded and Italian forces are threatening the Austrian defensive works in the Gail valley.

A strong Italian detachment, supported by mountain howitzers have advanced along the Calcinetta valley and laid siege to Malborghetto. (Malborghetto lies in the Fella valley about ten miles inside of the Austrian frontier.)

Further to the south another Italian army which is pushing through the Raecolona valley, is threatening Predil Pass. (Predil pass lies alongside of Predil mountain about eighteen miles northwest of Karfreit or Caporetto. It is 3795 feet high and is held by strong Austrian forts defended with heavy guns.)

Heavy rains in upper Istria have flooded most of the rivers into mountain torrents.

The Italian ministry of marine has closed the strait of Messini to navigation at night and on cloudy days.

A dispatch from Milan says that Italian soldiers discovered a telegraphic apparatus hidden beneath the altar of a church at Caporetto. Several Austrian priests were arrested on the charge of being spies and will be court-martialed.

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy; King Peter of Serbia, and King Nicholas of Montenegro, have exchanged telegrams of felicitation.

Austrians Lose 5,800.

Geneva, May 31.—Austrian losses in the first week of war with Italy were 5,800 in killed, wounded and captured, according to the Tribune. These are enumerated as 1,000 killed, 3,000 wounded and 1,000 captured. The Austro-German forces on the frontier are estimated at 650,000 men, but so far they have offered only feeble resistance to the advance of the Italians in both Trent and Istria. There are seventy batteries of heavy Austrian guns planted along the border.

The Italians are seizing Oglio valley north of Lake Iseo.

Col. St. Hawkins, of American, Ga., passed through Dothan today en route to Dead Lake, Fla., on a fishing trip.

WEARERS OF GRAY REUNITE TUESDAY IN THE OLD CAPITAL

Richmond, Va., May 31.—The twenty-fifth reunion of the United Confederate Veterans will begin here Tuesday and continue through Thursday. The convention will be called to order by General George P. Harrison, of Opelika, Ala., appointed to preside in the enforced absence of General Bennett H. Young, commander in chief, who is in a hospital.

Exercises preliminary to the convention will be held tomorrow, with the annual Hollywood memorial parade, and sessions of the Confederates' Southern Memorial association and the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

The veterans will be welcomed by Governor Stuart and Mayor Ainslie and by Judge D. Gardiner Tyler, son of the late President Tyler, who will address the visitors on behalf of the Virginia camp. General Harrison will respond for the visitors. There will be sessions Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday afternoon the corner stone of the equestrian statue to General Stonewall Jackson will be laid. The statue will be located near the monuments to Davis, Lee and Stuart.

For the first time in the history of Confederate reunions a northern military organization will take part in the military pageant. The governor's footguard of Connecticut will be here as the personal escort of Governor Marcus H. Holcomb, who will be the guest of Governor Stuart.

Among other features of the convention will be the unveiling of a tablet in Hollywood cemetery to the women of the South and memorial exercises at noon Wednesday for veterans who died within the past year.

The committee on designation of Stars and Bars will announce Wednesday its decision as to who first designed the Confederate flag.

The reunion will end Thursday night with a grand ball in honor of the sponsors and a ball given by the Richmond Blues to the Connecticut footguard.

AGREE MAKES NEW CHARGE

Says He is Informed on Good Authority that Grand Jury Instructed Sheriff to Discharge Deputy.

To the People of Houston County:

In compliance with an intimation of yesterday in The Dothan Eagle as to the conduct of my good friend, Mr. May, as sheriff of Houston county, in discharging the duties of his office, I purpose in this issue to criticize him as sheriff and give him a broken dose, which will be followed by another tomorrow, and thereafter until the internal movements and conduct of his office are exposed to the constituency of this county.

I shall only criticize him as an official, and not as an individual, because as a matter of fact a man's private life and character belongs to him alone, and I don't believe it would be justice to him and his loved ones to raise the question as to whether he has in his past life abided by the statutes laid down in the code of Alabama. I shall deal in this communication with only one proposition, which he himself has laid down and I now quote verbatim from his allegation, as follows: "At the last session of the court the grand jury recommended that part of the jail which is occupied by white prisoners, (printer's error, it should read) be given more ventilation. I took this matter up and carried Mr. Blackmon with me into the jail, and he told me at once to arrange for more ventilation. I then took the matter up with Judge A. C. Crawford, and he told me at once not to arrange for more ventilation. Hence, the prisoners are there today sweltering in a place with very little ventilation."

In reply to the latter part of this allegation by Mr. May, where in he claims to have taken up this proposition with Judge Crawford, and that Judge Crawford turned the same down, I wish to say that I was present at the time and what he claims is not true. He did take up the proposition with Judge Crawford, and Judge Crawford asked him to ascertain what it would cost to make the necessary improvements. He said that he had taken it up with one firm, and that their estimate was $150. Judge Crawford, in my presence, told Mr. May that he thought that this was too much to pay for the said improvements, and that he would see other parties and arrange to do it cheaper, if possible. This is all that has been said or done about the recommendation of the grand jury in this matter, in so far as I know.

However, I have been informed that the grand jury made some other recommendations that have not been mentioned by Mr. May in his criticism of Judge Crawford. I have been informed, and I think from a reliable source, that the grand jury requested that Mr. May discharge one of his deputies because of the fact that there was an indictment against said deputy for murder in

TWO BIG SHOWS ARE BOOKED

Manager Thomas has already been assured of two large productions for the city auditorium this season, although the dates have not been announced yet.

He gives out the following advance stuff today:

Philip Bartholomae's brilliant musical comedy of romances and youth, "When Dreams Come True," music by Silvio Hain, 50 people and a carload of scenery.

A fascinating departure from the average style musical comedies, and will be seen here with the same great cast, chorus, containing production and music that delighted more than a million people in four cities.

"When Dreams Come True" played one whole year in four cities, New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia.

A grand revival of Bud Fisher's big cartoon carnival, called "Mutt and Jeff in College," presenting these two funny fellows in an entirely new atmosphere. With not a vestige of the former shows in evidence. A hilariously laughable travesty of college life. Co-ed, of course, with girls predominating.

This is one of Gus Hill's enterprises and he gives his personal guarantee that this production will be absolutely new in every detail, and is designed to surpass any of his offerings of former seasons.

Did you start to trading right this month by trading at Greene's 10c Store. They sell more for less.

It is a fact, and that the officers of this county, who are entrusted with the enforcement of the law, should be regarded as law-abiding citizens. I ask Mr. May if this is or is not a fact, and I demand an answer for the people of Houston county have a right to know what the internal movements in your office are? I put this proposition to you, that if you are anxious to carry out the instructions and recommendations of the grand jury, in regard to the improvements and ventilation of the jail, why didn't you regard the suggestions of the same gentlemen in regard to discharging one of your deputies?

I shall from day to day continue to carry on this investigation, and on tomorrow I may develop some facts which are unknown to the majority of the people of Houston county.

I regret being brought into this controversy, as I was Mr. May's political friend, but as the sheriff started it the blame is on him, and he must take what is handed out to him. I am not a candidate for any office, but if I was I should stand up for right with due regard to the people and their thoughts.

Let the truth be turned on. Mr. May, what do you say?

Sincerely, your friend,
W. U. ACREE

CULVER-HARRIS FURNITURE COMPANY GIVES REASON TO CUSTOMERS

THURSDAY, MAY 27, WAS THE LUCKY DAY.

During the month of May, the lot was spread out the date of Culver-Harris Furniture Company advertised to refund on any day's purchase to their customers who traded during that month. A letter was written to Mr. J. L. Crawford, Cashier of the Dothan National Bank, which was as follows:

J. L. Crawford, Cashier Dothan National Bank, Dothan, Ala.

Dear Sir:

In appreciation of past favors of our many patrons, we have decided that on May 27 we will present to our customers all furniture purchased on that day, and also refund any money that has been paid on account of such purchase.

We would ask you to kindly insert the date in the blank space and place this letter in a sealed envelope in your safe deposit vault until the 1st of June, of which time the envelope is to be opened in the presence of representatives of the Dothan press and the names of all those who have purchased furniture from us on that date announced, that they may call at our store and obtain a receipt in full for their purchase.

Thanking you for your kind co-operation, we are,
Sincerely yours,
CULVER-HARRIS FURNITURE COMPANY.

Mr. Crawford inserted the date, sealed the letter and it bank's vault until this morning.

In the presence of a committee assembled peacefully in the composed of W. T. Hall, editor; W. C. Batchelor, business manager, and A. J. Furlong, advertising manager of The Eagle the letter was given away and also a handsome dining room suite.

The fortunate buyers were: J. J. Cray, Miss Sibyl Porter, D. G. Andrews, Mrs. A. M. Chaney, J. A. Fears, Rita Armstrong, Frank Romano, W. W. McNeely.

Lord's Prayer on a Pinhead.

(Chicago Tribune.)

The Lord's prayer recently was sent to the Tribune occupying cramped quarters. The prayer was engraved on the head of a common pin—the kind women use instead of buttons—and although the script is invisible to the naked eye, a magnifying glass brings out every letter. The work was done by a jeweler who asked that his name be withheld. He said the pinhead was .0073 of an inch in diameter. He will try, he added, to put the prayer on a pinhead .0001 of an inch in diameter.

When you have a disagreeable job of work ahead of you, the best way to do, is to tackle the worst one first. The others get out of the way easy then.

This is about the time for the prospective candidate to begin the long and pleasant task of meeting and remembering everybody's name.

Huntsville, has a dispensary. The revenue officers captured a couple of fine stills near that city some time ago, according to reports. Still, will be run from time to time, whether in a wet or a dry community.

Feeding The Poor.

A Kansas farmer, who had noticed a movement in a small city to raise $10,000 to feed the poor, filed his objections. That is unusual, but from his viewpoint, his objections are good. He said the farmers of this community all wanted men to work. He himself, used an average of five to six men through the year. One Monday came recently and he was shown up. They had migrated to the town, to get the best bread-bake. One of the men said him, he didn't think he could work for $35 a month, and he'd on a farm. Although that is much better wages than any other of his ability, are able to make in the city.

The farmer advised that if the town would run out the illers and the leaders and the hoboes, that the farmer would have enough help to harvest his corn crop.

Feeding Plant

For Summer.

The Huntsville Times thinks that city will get a packing plant. Of course, it's with the citizens, but the citizens have come together and made it almost a certain thing.

When packing plants are scattered conveniently through this section of the South it will do much to make the farmer raise much. It will afford a ready market for hogs and coys.

W. W. Eddies, a Houston county farmer, is it said, sold to the Houston, G. packing plant this last winter $1,100 worth of hogs.

He had a few hogs in the lower end of the county, where he is raising some cattle. He sold to a Houston citizen last week, a few hogs with one for $100. The Houston citizen had any more hogs than he had been a him a beggarly $10,000 to risk his life. That's the Houston citizen's story, but no more. Some apply to the Houston citizen, but no more.

A Dispensary

Suggestive

The New York Medical Journal comes forward with a dangerous suggestion, one that does not reflect credit on a journal of such eminence. According to this authority narcotic drugs are necessary to professional men in order to steel them to meet the requirements of life. In other words, the Journal boldly criticizes the Harrison anti-narcotic law and virtually advocates a continuance of the sale of narcotic drugs.

In cases of serious illness physicians are warranted in the use of narcotic drugs, but to steel a healthy man to meet the requirements of life is extremely poor logic and decidedly dangerous advice.

The professional man who drinks, nine cases out of ten, will explain that he does so in order to stimulate his broken down nervous system and to strengthen him that he may do better and more brilliant work.

If his nervous system is wrecked it is not because of overwork, but because of physical imprudence or over indulgence of some sort. The use of stimulants may afford temporary relief, but it wrecks the physical system in the end.

The New York Medical Journal is a representative publication. It should exercise its influence to suppress and not to encourage the use of narcotic drugs. Yet in an outspoken and deliberate way it advances the theory that in "present social and economic conditions the use of drugs is not necessarily a vicious habit. It is often the means by which men of capacity and ability steel themselves to meet the requirements of life, to relieve the strain of overwrought nerves imposed by the facts of life in a generation that makes unprecedented demand on nervous force."

This is unsound reasoning. A man of normal conditions may feel the stress of the day's work. He may feel that his nerves have been overtaxed. He needs no stimulant or drug to bring him to himself again. Let him go out into the open air, take a walk through the parks, enjoy physical exercise and give his brain a rest. This will restore his nerves and bring him into fit condition.

The use of drugs is dangerous. Morphine, cocaine or heroin may for the time being give relief, but the man of common sense knows that if he makes this a practice that sooner or later he will be required to pay the cost. At the best it is far wiser to suffer for the time being than to obtain relief which will end in indefinite suffering.

The Harrison anti-narcotic law is a wise provision. It may cause suffering for awhile, but, if enforced, will relieve the nation of an awful curse.

Sunday's Accumulating Week's.

Savannah News.

"Billy Sunday's campaign at Patterson, N. J., brought him a check for $24,000, with more to come, which is not a poor return for his labors, although Philadelphia gave him a check for more than $50,000 and a carload of presents. The evangelist has found his strenuous preaching profitable. It is estimated that in the past three cities he received $12 in cash, besides other things. And yet England offered him a beggarly $10,000 to risk his life. That's the Houston citizen's story, but no more. Some apply to the Houston citizen, but no more.

would not have done more good if it had been expended in the support of local churches, but that is a question that evidently cannot be answered in such a way as to satisfy everybody. Still it is regrettable that the churches and pastors are sometimes very much in need of money that would enable them to do better work.

It is the task of pastors to try to keep the Sunday "trail hitters" from backsliding after they move on to the next town. That the task is a hard one is not doubted. If all his converts, or even a large majority of them were brought into the churches and helped support them there would be no word of criticism for him, because there would be proof that his preaching was a valuable aid to the preachers who use less slang in the pulpit and who get along on a much smaller income.

Philadelphia North American.

A letter that reached Billy Sunday one day a few weeks ago got a curious answer. It was from a young woman in a little town near Camden. She wrote how she and her mother, a helpless, invalid, delighted in reading about the wonderful meetings and what a sorrow it was to them they could not hope to be present even once. Would he not write to them.

The next morning he slipped away from his house in Spring Garden street and went over to New Jersey and found the poor little home. For an hour he talked with the mother and daughter, prayed with them, and read the Bible to the sufferer, and left them radiant with happiness. That night the sick woman begged her daughter to read again the chapter Mr. Sunday had read. When the book was opened there lay between the leaves a check for $100.

It is impossible to learn from Sunday's own lips of his gifts, but the examples are numberless. In Pittsburgh he secretly paid a $4,000 mortgage on the house of a faithful assistant in the revival. In Ohio a woman sent him a check for $50. One of the comely ladies, knowing her circumstances, told the evangelist it was more than she could afford.

stances, told the evangelist it was more than she could afford, and was rather hurt when the sum was not returned. But a week after the party had left the town there came through the community a check payable to the woman for $850—the amount of the mortgage on her home—and it was signed "W. A. Sunday."

In Saranton he persuaded an employer to take back a defaulting bookkeeper—and then, having inhaled the lessons of repentance and forgiveness, made good the $700 defaultation.

None of these things has ever been made known by Sunday himself, but he never visits a town without leaving behind him dozens of like cases, which gradually become known and which account for a large part of the "fortune" he is charged with making.

Fake Boosting.

Ordelle (Ga.) Dispatch.

Does this thing of fake boosting PAY from any point of view? We think not. This thing of painting and white-washing a condition to such an extent that it merely APPEARS different from the TRUE condition is in our humble judgment bad policy. The real truth of any situation should be aimed at upon any and all occasions. The faith cure which has been prescribed so much lately by many of the wise people does not cure. To say that it is merely a condition of mind, is only evading the main question. Faith cure may help a temporary headache, but when an arm or leg is broken the faith cure does not even start a remedy. To the point in question; some of the fake boosters have succeeded in making the creditor world (we all know where that is) believe that we have corncribs full of MONEY, and some of the creditors conclude that we are naturally opposed to paying debts, so enforce their demands, and as there is no currency with which to meet these demands, a most deplorable condition of affairs is thus created. This is exactly where the harm of fake boosting comes in, and the statesmen or newspapers who continually do this for selfish reasons or any other reasons are real enemies of their country and also enemies to themselves.

The Cause of Many

Unhappy Marriages.

In the June Woman's Home Companion—which is called "The Bride's Number"—Chas. E. Jefferson writes an interesting article entitled, "In Their New Home." It is a sort of friendly talk to young married people. In the following extract taken from the article he explains why some marriages turn out badly:

"It takes two hearts to build a home. No woman can build a home by herself. Husband and wife must collaborate in this difficult piece of work. Many men do not realize this. They assume that all a woman wants is a house. If they pay the bills, nothing more, they think, ought to be expected. They wrap themselves up in their business, take their recreations with their male companions, and then wonder why eyes which were once radiant are now sad. It is because they think a house can take the place of a home in a woman's heart that many men are unpeppably cruel to the women whom they have promised before God and man to cherish until death. If the husband, feeling that by the furnishing and maintenance of the house his duty is fulfilled, goes off to his business and pleasures, or if the wife, after she has prepared the meals and made the bed, sinks back into the solitary life she loved before she was married, following her own tastes and pursuits, making no effort to enter into the life and ambitions of her husband, no home will grow up inside of that house, and two more members will be added to the growing company of disappointed mortals.

"In looking for the causes of unhappy marriages we are prone to look in the wrong direction. It is our habit to ascribe controlling importance to the things which are seen. We lay the blame on low wages, or on poor housing, or on economic conditions, or on the industrial order, while all the time the trouble lies deeper. It lies in the heart. It is the things which are not seen which are responsible for our woes. It is out of the heart that proceed the destructive forces which tear home to pieces. If marital happiness depends on good wages and elegant houses, then why are the divorce courts crowded with men and women who wear fine linen and fare sumptuously every day? Husbands and wives drift apart, no matter what kind of a house they live in, if they do not have home-building hearts."

A yell will go up when three or four days rainy weather comes along. Grass will spread out and look healthy.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(Conducted by the National Women's Christian Temperance Union.)

BREWERS URGE MODERATION

The annual meeting of the United States Brewers' association was recently held in New Orleans. Commenting on the printed report of that meeting, Henry J. Allen, in the Wichita Beacon says:

We note that the deepest concern of the annual meeting was, as usual, for the taxpayer. They made it perfectly plain to everybody that so far as the brewers themselves were concerned, they didn't care anything for prohibition—they could, in fact, sell more booze under prohibition than without it—but they did not want the government to lose the revenue, they didn't want the taxpayer burdened; they just wanted everything to go on in a free and easy and open way, with the taxpayer as he is now in the states where the saloons run the politics.

And above all, the brewers urged "moderation," not in drinking, but in the language with which the discussions against liquor are carried on. They also desire to save the hop and barley fields from being destroyed. While prohibition increases beer sales, it apparently ruins the hop and barley crops.

One gem from the wisdom of this convention is that "beer may be substituted for bread."

Frequently it is also substituted for shoes and school books and clothes and meat and house rent and furniture. In fact, a liberal use of it will make it a substitute for everything except the grave.

Another piece of philosophy garnered from the book of brewers' wisdom is that "the only difference between bread and beer is that bread is baked, while beer is boiled."

It did not add, however, that the user of it is frequently stewed.

EX-SALOON KEEPER TESTIFIES.

A former Red Wing (Minn.) saloon keeper, Mr. Lohman, now engaged in the clothing business in Melleny, N. D., recently visited his old friends in Red Wing. While disclaiming any pretensions to being a total abstainer, he gave some excellent testimony to the value of prohibition.

"One reason why we are not anxious to have a saloon in our town is that it would draw the kind of people from other places that we do not want; we like a good, clean town."

"It is said so often that prohibition does not prohibit, Mr. Lohman," remarked a reporter. "If a man goes to Melleny and wants a drink, can he get it?" "No, not for love nor money," replied Mr. Lohman with emphasis. "There is no liquor to be had in our town except for medicinal purposes." "Start a crowd of young men cannot start out and have a gloriously good time in Melleny?" "I should say they cannot," replied Mr. Lohman, "because there is no place where they can get the liquor. There has been no bootlegging during the last few years. The law is being enforced rigidly and there is no evidence anywhere of drunkenness."

BETTER LIE LOW.

The following incident is told by the Philadelphia North American Review:

"A West Philadelphia liquor dealer recently consulted an acquaintance in the real estate business about the advisability of transferring his license from a side street location to a Market street corner. The change would involve an increased investment. 'Stay where you are,' counseled the real estate expert. 'You would get a more prominent situation by moving; but that, in my judgment, is just what you should avoid. Better stay where you're tolerated. If you try to get out on Market street, you'll only attract attention and stir up opposition. Public opinion is getting mighty sensitive about the saloon business, and you'd run the chance of losing the place you've got.'"

"I guess you're right," said the saloon-keeper. "I put the proposition up to one of the biggest men in the wholesale trade. 'Don't think of it,' he said. 'Don't invest another dollar. And make all you can now, for inside of ten years we'll all be put out of business.'"

SLUMP IN VALUES.

Federal Judge Landis of Chicago, undertaking to dispose of the 59 licenses that came into his possession with the bankruptcy of the Tappit Brewing company, found that while a year ago licenses brought from $2,500 to $2,800, but one offer was made, and that for only $1,200. This he refused. Fear of successful antislavery legislation is the reason given, brewers, speculators and license brokers anticipating further dry activity.

EASY TO BUY MEDICINES.

Kansas consumes per annum per capita, $1.25 worth of liquor for all purposes as against the average consumption of liquor of $21 per head. No wonder the Kansans have their own automobile.

Cost of tobacco blended in Camel Cigarettes prohibits premiums!

Quality is constant in every puff of Camel—a blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos. You'll prefer them to either kind of tobacco smoked straight.

The blend is delightful, creating a cigarette that's smooth, fragrant and satisfying and without a suggestion of tongue-bite, throat-itch or any unpleasant cigarette after-taste!

Compare Camels with any cigarette in the world. They'll stand the test!

CAMELS sell for 10c. If your dealer can't supply you, send for our package of $1.00 for a sample of our cigarettes (100 cigarettes). Package price is not duplicated with Camels. Return the other day packages and we will refund your dollar and postage.

ANOTHER DOTHAN CASE

It Proves That There's A Way Out for Many Suffering Dothan Folks.

Just another report of a case in Dothan. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Dothan with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. D. O. Trammell, 133 E. North St., Dothan, says: "For twenty years, my kidneys were in bad shape. Sharp, shooting pains darted through the small of my back and many times when I awoke in the morning, my back was so stiff that I couldn't straighten up. The kidney secretions were unnatural and sometimes everything turned black before me. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and although that was three years ago, I have never had any trouble since."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Trammell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props, Buffalo, N. Y.

TALKING OF EXTENDING DOTHAN'S WHITE WAY

There is a movement on foot to get the white way extended on South St. Andrews Street to Crawford street, and on North St. Andrews street to Troy street. This then, will place the white way lights over all of the section of the city that has paved streets.

The cost of installing the white way, including the poles and the wiring, will be about $1.50 a running foot.

St. Cecilia Club

The meeting of the St. Cecilia Club held this morning with Miss Evelyn Farmer was one of very great importance, in as much as the programs were arranged for the coming year.

The prospectus committee, composed of Miss Farmer, Mrs. Hollis, Mrs. Saxon Poyner, and Mrs. Gellerstedt arranged the year's work in a most unusual and interesting way.

After the programs had been decided on, outside covers were procured, the club was invited to the home of the president, and each member asked to write her own program of the year. These were inserted in the covers, and tied with the club colors of yellow and white.

The club study is composed of French, German, Scandinavian, and Russian music, as prescribed by the General Federation of Music Clubs.

Miss Esther Foster left yesterday for Grapewille, Fla., to visit her parents.

Miss Mary Essie Hunter has returned from Tuscaloosa, where she has been teaching during the past year.

Miss Leola Faulk has returned from Geiger, Ala., to spend the vacation with her parents.

Mrs. Shelly Boykin and little daughter, who have been the guests of Mrs. J. B. Moor, and Mrs. B. F. Reid left this afternoon for their home in Montgomery.

Mrs. J. B. Moor and Master Joe Moor left this afternoon for Virginia Beach to spend the summer. Mr. Moor will join them in Atlanta.
